TITLE: Call For Providers for Family Resource Centers

PURPOSE: The New Mexico Children, Youth & Families Department, Family Services Division, is seeking responses from agencies and organizations wishing to provide a Family Resource Center in the State of New Mexico within all counties, except Valencia, Rio Arriba, Chaves, Doña Ana. There is a preference for the following counties:

- San Juan
- Lea

New Mexico has developed the Thriving Families Plan to achieve the overarching goal to prevent and reduce child maltreatment in a way that meets the unique needs of families and communities. The strategy to achieve this goal is the development of Family Resource Centers (FRCs), which will provide a comprehensive service delivery model that yields a wrap-around case management structure inclusive of all state resources. The FRCs must be able to co-locate state resources, provide case management services to families, and support families to access services needed to support their family well-being. Services include access to primary health care, mental health services, early intervention services, home visiting services, and basic tangible needs such as food, clothing, housing, etc.
